

Our Instructors

Debbie Levy - I have always enjoyed working with children. While in high school I worked at summer camp, and in college I put myself through school by again working summer camps and teaching preschool. I graduated from UNLV with a degree in Accounting, and ran my own business while staying at home with my children. When my kids grew into elementary school age, I went back to UNLV and studied art & Architecture for “fun”. It was at this time that my daughter Sarah began to show a strong interest in art, and shortly after, the art school was born. My work is to play, and when asked what my favorite medium is my response is always “children”.

Sarah Levy - I have always had a love for art and excelled in my art classes in school. At the age of 8 I began taking art lessons. I spent my freshman year of High School attending the Las Vegas Academy downtown as an Art Major. I have taken art classes at both USC and UNLV. In 1993 my mother, Debbie began running a summer art camp and after school classes. I began assistant teaching at age 11 and by age 13 was instructing my own classes. In 2000 my mother and I became partners and “Art Starts Here” was born.
